

WHO KILLED PRINCE CHARMING?

A Fairy-Tale Murder Mystery Puzzle

8,165 guests · 9 clues · 1 killer

SAMPLE CASE

The Case

The Happily Ever After Ball was the event of the year. Every character from every tale had come, along with half the kingdom, and rather more wolves than anyone had invited.

At the first stroke of midnight, Prince Charming fell face-first into the wedding cake. By the twelfth stroke he was dead.

The Captain of the Guard barred the gates and wrote down the name of every guest, room by room and garden by garden: 8,165 names in all. Witnesses agree that two guests slipped away from the dance floor just before midnight. One of them is the killer.

The witnesses have given 9 clues. Every clue is true of both of the guests who slipped away. Work through the register, cross out every guest a clue rules out, and you will be left with two names. The Final Deduction tells you which of them did it.

All you need is a pencil, a highlighter, and a sharp eye.

Before You Begin

One name, one guest.

Every guest is written as a single first name. Some names appear more than once: each one is a different guest, so check each on its own.

Fairy-tale characters.

Characters from the old tales are printed in italics, like Snow White. Each is one guest, however many words the name has.

Letters.

Every printed letter counts. The vowels are A, E, I, O and U; every other letter is a consonant, and that includes Y.

Reading order.

Names run left to right, line by line, page by page. A name never breaks across two lines.

Pages and chapters.

Page numbers are printed at the foot of each register page. Each chapter is one place in the palace; The Palace page lists them all.

Clues in any order.

The clues can be used in any order and you will reach the same two names. They are printed in a good order: the first ones clear whole chapters and pages, the letter clues come last.

Checkpoints.

Between the groups of clues, a checkpoint tells you how many pages or names should still be in play. If yours is different, read the last clues again.

Stuck?

Every clue has a hint at the back of the book. The solution is on the very last pages, upside down, behind a warning page.

The Palace

The guards took down every name, place by place. These are the chapters of the register.

Chapter	Pages
1. The Orchard	1–7
2. The Hedge Maze	8–13
3. The Library	14–23
4. The Wine Cellar	24–30

The Clues

CLUE 1

“From my tower I could see the whole of the grounds,” says Rapunzel. “Nobody slipped out into the gardens. Whoever it was stayed inside the palace.”

Rule: Keep only guests in a chapter named after a room inside the palace.
Cross out every chapter set out in the grounds.

CLUE 2

“We came in separately,” says Gretel. “Hansel with the first guests, me with the last. The killer arrived somewhere in between.”

Rule: Keep only guests on the pages between Hansel’s page and Gretel’s.

CHECKPOINT A

“After clues 1 to 2,” says the Fairy Godmother, “14 pages of the register should still have names in play. More, and you have kept someone who was elsewhere. Fewer, and you have crossed out a page too many.”

CLUE 3

“The Wolf was never far away,” says Little Red Riding Hood. “Wherever that guest went, he went too.”

Rule: Keep only guests on a page with the Big Bad Wolf on it, or on the page just before or after one.

CLUE 4

“A crown was reflected right beside them,” says the Mirror. It will not say whose.

Rule: Keep only guests whose page has a royal guest on it.

CLUE 5

“They stood close to someone out of a story,” says the Tooth Fairy. “Ten guests away, no more. I counted teeth.”

Rule: Keep only guests at most 10 names away from a fairy-tale character.

CHECKPOINT B

“After clues 1 to 5,” says the Fairy Godmother, “there should be 719 names left, on 5 pages. Check again before you start on the letters.”

CLUE 6

*“There was a double letter in it,” says the Brave Tailor, who stitched every place card.
“Two of the same, side by side.”*

Rule: Keep only names with a double letter.

Example: Barrie is kept. Bryce is crossed out.

CLUE 7

“It ended hard,” says the Town Crier, who announced every guest. “On a consonant.”

Rule: Keep only names that end in a consonant.

Example: Benedict is kept. Matilda is crossed out.

CLUE 8

“Early in the alphabet,” says Mother Goose, who wrote the invitations. “A to M, I’m certain.”

Rule: Keep only names that begin with a letter from A to M.

Example: Conrad is kept. Wilfred is crossed out.

CLUE 9

“They shared a letter with the first guest on their page,” says the Captain of the Guard, who wrote the register.

Rule: Keep only names that contain the first letter of the name printed first on their page.

CHECKPOINT C

“If you have done it right,” says the Fairy Godmother, “two names are left. Now turn to the Final Deduction.”

CLUE CARD

Cut along the dotted line and keep it beside the register.

3. Keep only guests on a page with the Big Bad Wolf on it, or on the page just before or after one.
4. Keep only guests whose page has a royal guest on it.
5. Keep only guests at most 10 names away from a fairy-tale character.
6. Keep only names with a double letter.
7. Keep only names that end in a consonant.
8. Keep only names that begin with a letter from A to M.
9. Keep only names that contain the first letter of the name printed first on their page.

The other side of this page is your clue card.

The Orchard

The Snow Queen had frozen one corner of the orchard. The ice showed footprints heading back to the palace: small, quick and, the guards agreed, in a great hurry.

The Hedge Maze

Three guests got lost in the maze at eleven and were found at dawn, still arguing about which way was left. They were, at least, not suspects.

The Library

The Mirror had been moved to the library for safekeeping. Asked who was fairest, it answered at once. Asked who had killed the Prince, it went quiet, and then very politely cracked.

The Wine Cellar

Puss in Boots had a perfect alibi, a signed menu, and three witnesses who would swear to anything for a sardine. The guards thanked him and crossed nothing off at all.

The Final Deduction

You should now have two names left. Only one of them is the killer.

As the clock struck twelve, the Fairy Godmother saw a guest run down the palace stairs and lose a shoe on the last step. “The one I saw,” she tells the guards, “has the longer name of the two.”

Count the letters in each name. The longer name is your killer.

The killer is: _____ on page _____

Stuck? The hints come next. The solution is on the last pages of the book, upside down, behind a warning page.

Hints

Read only the hint you need. A tells you what the clue means; B tells you where to look.

Clue 1

A. Rooms are inside: the Ballroom, the Kitchens, the Library and so on. Gardens, gates, yards, bridges, mazes and orchards are outside. The chapters are listed on The Palace page.

B. The chapters set inside the palace are: The Library, The Wine Cellar. Cross out every other chapter.

Clue 2

A. Hansel and Gretel each appear exactly once. Their own two pages don't count.

B. Hansel is on page 28 and Gretel is on page 12.

Clue 3

A. The Wolf turns up more than once. Mark every Wolf page first.

B. The Big Bad Wolf is on pages 5, 10, 15, 20, 25, 30.

Clue 4

A. A royal guest is any name with the word King, Queen, Prince or Princess in it, such as the Snow Queen or Old King Cole.

B. The royal guests are Evil Queen, Frog King, Goose Princess, King Thrushbeard, King of Hearts, Mouse King, Old King Cole, Queen of Hearts, Swan Princess. Mark every page they appear on.

Clue 5

A. Fairy-tale characters are printed in italics. Count in reading order: the very next name is 1 away. The count carries on across lines and pages. Highlight the 10 names either side of each character.

B. Highlight each name in italics and the ten names on either side of it. Every name outside the highlights is crossed out.

Clue 6

A. The same letter twice in a row, like the "ll" in Bella or the "nn" in Anna.

B. Work name by name. Example: Barrie is kept. Bryce is crossed out.

Clue 7

A. Look only at the last letter. Y is a consonant.

B. Work name by name. Example: Benedict is kept. Matilda is crossed out.

Hints (continued)

Clue 8

- A. Look only at the first letter.
- B. Work name by name. Example: Conrad is kept. Wilfred is crossed out.

Clue 9

- A. The first name on a page is the one at the top left. Note its first letter, then check each name on that page for it.
- B. Write the first letter of each page's opening name at the top of the page, then check the names.

Notes

Stop!

The other side of this page tells you who killed Prince Charming.
Turn over only when you have your answer, or when you give up.

The Solution

It was Lowell.

When the Fairy Godmother saw the last two names she pointed at once to the longer one. Lowell had slipped away from the dance floor at a quarter to midnight, taken the servants' stair down to the kitchens, and added something to the icing on the wedding cake.

The Prince had once won a singing contest that Lowell was certain they should have won, and they had been practising their revenge ever since.

The other guest, Glenn, had only stepped outside for some air, and was very embarrassed to have been suspected.

The guards led Lowell away at dawn. The wedding cake was thrown in the moat, and the Big Bad Wolf, who had been blamed for everything all night, received a formal apology and a slice of something else.

*Lowell (the killer): page 25, line 11 from the top, name 5 on the line; 6 letters.
Glenn: page 21, line 8 from the bottom, name 8 on the line; 5 letters.*

Names left after each clue: 1: 4,656, 2: 3,824, 3: 2,394, 4: 1,252, 5: 719, 6: 183, 7: 116, 8: 63, 9: 2.
